

Counting on Me

Ellen Liss / Jeff Landgraf

You count on me
But I can't count on you

I prop you up, but you let me fall
You talk of strength, but you let me fall
Strength to hold me high
But you don't hold me high, you just let me fall

So many games
Beg, plead, complain
It does not work this way
I can not live this way

Your ego bruise
Can't hear a word that you don't choose
The words I say, they just drift away
My concern, drifts away

Nothing changes we keep repeat
Emotional beat but we repeat
All the sorrow you don't feel
All the wounds I can not heal

You count on me
But I can't count on you
You count on me
I dream, but I can't count on you
